Nolan Torbert takes home “Bracket Master” trophy

A group of Campus Services teammates jumped in on March Madness fun by filling out brackets for the NCAA Basketball Tournament and submitting them into the office pool.

While Kansas ultimately won the NCAA tournament, all participants had the Auburn Tigers advancing to the Sweet 16. Richard Caldwell said he predicted our Tigers would play in the championship game against his home-state team, the Arkansas Razorbacks. As the tournament advanced, the predicted brackets began breaking one-by-one.

Even though all brackets were eventually busted, the Campus Services’ team enjoyed the friendly competition. Nolan Torbert ended up with the most correct predictions and received the “2022 Bracket Master” title and the department’s tournament trophy for one year. Additionally, his co-workers pitched in and bought him breakfast as a part of the celebration.

Nolan Torbert, Building Operations, won his departments’ coveted 2022 “Bracket Master” trophy after having the most correct predictions on his NCAA Men’s Basketball Tournament bracket. Why a horse? Let’s just say, Richard Caldwell’s wife was about to give the trophy-esque statue away, and well, the rest is history.

30 bales of cardboard recycled

In February, Waste Reduction and Recycling recycled 30 bales of cardboard, a total 24,940 pounds, or more than the average empty school bus!
