WRRD makes a gutsy move for Halloween

Solid Waste Tech Cedric Ramsey empties leftover pumpkins into the compost pile.

Waste Reduction and Recycling (WRRD) set out and retrieved several “pumpkin guts only” bins during the 34th annual Pumpkin Carve that took place Friday, Oct. 28. After the event, WRRD gathered the pumpkins left behind and their guts and added them to Landscaping’s compost mound located across from the Facilities complex.

WRRD also provided waste and recycling services for the event.
